BOONTON — The New Jersey Highlands Coalition is sponsoring the 2016 juried Highlands Art and Photography Exhibit. This year, from Dec. 16 to 18, the exhibition of all selected pieces will be shown at the Morris Museum, and from mid-January to mid-March at the Atrium in the Morris County Administration Building.

All two-dimensional work (paintings, drawings, pastels, watercolors, photography, etc.) will be considered as long as it features the landscapes, flora, fauna, natural or cultural resources of the Highlands of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania or Connecticut. Some three-dimensional work will also be considered.

Curated by New Jersey photographer and Coalition trustee Dwight Hiscano, juried by a panel of prominent local artists, and judged by Alexandra Willis, assistant curator for the Morris Museum, the exhibit offers artists an opportunity to reach an even wider audience than in past exhibits. Additional prizes will include gift certificates for framing and art reproduction from Dwight Hiscano Gallery and Swain Galleries, both of Morristown, John Castronovo of Techphoto and Speakeasy Art Gallery, both of Boonton, and Giralda Farms Music and Arts Festival tickets for their June 25, 2017 event. About the NJ Highlands Coalition:

Through events such as the Highlands Art Exhibit, the New Jersey Highlands Coalition promotes awareness about the beauty, and cultural and natural resources of the New Jersey Highlands region. As a nonprofit organization in Boonton, the New Jersey Highlands Coalition works to protect, restore, and enhance the water and other natural and cultural resources of New Jersey's Highlands, now and for the future. The Coalition serves 88 municipalities in Bergen, Hunterdon, Morris, Passaic, Somerset, Sussex, and Warren counties that are protected under the New Jersey Highlands Water Protection and Planning Act in addition to the 6.2 million state residents who depend on the Highlands for drinking water. For more information on the NJ Highlands Coalition, visit the organization's website www.njhighlandscoalition.org/
